SacCountyGOP Calls On Assemblyman Ken Cooley to Stop Promoting Proud Boy

Sacramento, California – The Sacramento County Republican Party today called on Assemblyman Ken Cooley to stop promoting the Proud Boy running against him for a new seat in the State Assembly. “We were surprised to see Cooley has followed Attorney General Bonta’s tactic of promoting the candidate least likely to provide him a challenge in November,” said SacCountyGOP Chair Betsy Mahan reacting to a mailer Cooley sent to Republican voters. “This seems to be too common in this election where Republicans are expected to win over voters who are fed up with the Democrat’s failing policies that have led to skyrocketing gas prices and inflation, shortages of food and other essential items, and undeterred crime at our businesses and in our neighborhoods. Cooley should read his own mailer that admits this Proud Boy was expelled from our committee by fellow Republicans. We don’t condone violence or intimidation to promote any cause.”

What Cooley fails to mention is that the Sacramento Bee and the Sacramento County Republican Party agree that Josh Hoover will be the best Assemblyman to represent the 7th District that includes Folsom, Citrus Heights, Orangevale, and Rancho Cordova. “Josh Hoover has proven his leadership abilities as an elected member of the Folsom Cordova Unified School District where he made sure kids got back to in person learning, and parents’ views were respected when it came to their children’s education and health,” said Mahan.

The Sacramento County Republican Party recruits and elects Republicans at all levels of Government and is the official organization representing Republican voters for the County of Sacramento.
